

When you return

You are a king, a king who comes again
You are a shepherd, who never loses his flock
You are a father, who loves his children much
You are a bridegroom, you draw your bride to you

I want to be there when you return

You are my God
All my hope I've set upon you
You are my God
Like a fire your Love burns in me

I want to be there when you return

You are my king, my king who comes again
You are my shepherd, you never let me go
You are my father, I know you're loving me
You are my bridegroom, drawing me to you